University Accreditation

The University of Houston is accredited by the Commission of Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as a Level IV, general post secondary institution. In addition, the university is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the National Commission of Accrediting, the Association of Texas Colleges and Universities, the American Council on Education, the Association of American Colleges, the Association of Urban Universities, and the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges. Specific college accreditations may be found in the Graduate and Professional Studies catalog.

Policy Statement

The University of Houston reserves the right to deny admission to, or to admit on probation, an applicant who meets the published admission standards of the university, but who has exhibited conduct or behavior such that the applicant would not be entitled to continued enrollment under the university's student life policies, or whose admission, in the judgement of the university, would not be in the best interests of the applicant or the university.

Equal Opportunity Policy

The University of Houston seeks to provide educational opportunity without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, handicap, or veteran status. This policy is in compliance with the Title IX regulations that implement the educational amendments of 1972 and extends to employment, admission, and all programs and activities supported by the university. Inquiries concerning Title IX may be directed to the Equal Opportunity Officer of the University of Houston.

Changes

The university reserves the right to make changes without notice in any publication as necessitated by university or legislative action.
